My observation diary.

February 3, Saturday, after the rain

I found two squirrels in the woods behind my house, their tails are long and huge tails. They jumped happily from one branch to that branch, looking so smart!

The squirrels play one, and then look for food the next. The squirrels eat with their front legs, so cute!

February 4, Sunday, Sunny

There is a squirrel nest on a tall tree! The nest is made of dried twigs, fallen leaves and other materials, and its shape is very similar to a bird's nest, but it is larger.

Monday, February 5th sunny

Squirrels like to eat nuts such as pine nuts and acorns, as well as fruits and flower buds. Oh, and the squirrels don't eat in their nests, but instead sit on branches and eat while facing the sun.

Animals' cries.

I am round all over, with big and round eyes, and everyone says I am cute. Being cute does not necessarily mean I am loved! After humans clear bamboo forests, my family and I often couldn't find shelter, couldn't find food, and we are even hunted by them!

My head is short and round, with small eyes, not as cute as a panda. Humans think my every part of my body is treasure and keep hunting me, so I am most afraid of humans!

Even though I am the king of the jungle, aren't I still human's prey? Humans clear forest indiscriminately, not only destroying my homeland, but also the homes of animals such as the deer, the pig, and the bison. We can't find our prey, and sooner or later we will starve to death, or even face extinction.

捕猎 = 追捕: hunt

A dragonfly lands on a water lily.

The round Moon Lake is full of water lilies, their round leaves float on the water surface. There are even full bloomed flowers on the water surface: red, white and yellow flowers.

The lake looks more beautiful and tranquil because of the water lilies, it looks just like a painting. Often, there are all kinds of small insects that fly into the water lilies' petals to get nectar.

The thing that dragonflies like the most is to come to Moon Lake to visit the water lilies. They stop on the flowers and leaves and look into the water. They discovered that the intertwining of water lily stems and leaves in the water is the safest place for them to lay eggs.

Have you ever seen dragonflies touch the water? Don't mistaken it as them playing games, they are laying eggs; if you don't believe me, look at the stems and leaves of water lilies underwater, and there are often dragonfly eggs stuck to them.

Surely you did not expect that dragonflies flying in the sky have their cradles in the water.
